CHAPTER 1

THE CURSE

Once upon a time there was a kingdom full of happiness with good and kind people. The kingdom's king and queen had four sons. One day the queen said to the king, 'I wish I could be the mother of a beautiful and kind girl.' After one year, a girl was born in the royal family having brown hair and light skin colour with black eyes and pink lips. A grand party was thrown by the king and the queen. For the first time, all the wise wizards and wizardess were invited in the party except one, a bad wizardess. She was Gregarin Lio. She had curly brown hair and black eyes. She always carries a magical stick which was designed like a snake and a beautiful bright green coloured gem on the tip of the stick. She was very disappointed when she was not been invited for the occasion.

PRINCESS OF ARAGONS

Gregarin Lio thought that if she will do nothing then everyone will make fun of her. So, she said to herself, 'I will curse the baby girl so that she can't get the honour of princess ever.' She was very angry so she flew to the palace and burst out in flames, 'O king of this huge kingdom, you have made me upset and you have to pay for this. The reason of your happiness will now become your sorrow forever. I came here to curse your daughter that she will turn into a stone and will die in the form of a monument after one year Ha Ha Ha.' And then she disappeared.

After Gregarin went away the whole kingdom was in fear for months, one day a wise wizard named Gladgodian having long white hair and brown eyes, came forward to see the king. He was carrying a magical stick designed like a tree branch covered with a creeper plant and have a beautiful bright blue coloured pearl shaped gem on the tip of his stick. He then said to king, 'I cannot remove the curse but I can assure you that after she will die, she will be reborn somewhere with the magical powers of Mother-Nature and the whole kingdom will stand still for a deep sleep till then, so that whenever she will return, she will break the curse and the whole kingdom can see her bravery and powers.'

THE CURSE

After one year, the curse turned true and the one-year-old princess turned into stone monument and was dead and after she was dead the whole kingdom slowly disappeared into a black dark forest and the villagers who lived near the forest forgot the beautiful and great kingdom. The bad wizardess, Gregarin Lio now started living in the palace. Somehow, she knew that princess will reborn and come back here in this forest one day; so, she thought, 'If I will spread a rumor about this forest that if anyone would come in this forest, he or she would never return back. So, if the princess reborn, then she won't dare to come in the forest and if she wishes to do so her new parents will stop her to do so. 'What a brilliant idea Gregarin, HA-HA-HA', she said to herself and laughed loudly.

A few months later, princess was reborn in a very poor family and no one was aware of it. The wise wizard, Gladgodian knew about the rumors spread by Gregarin and the motive of the rumors about the forest and was sure that Gregarin Lio will try to find and kill the princess again, so he transformed himself into a beautiful but mad woman and started finding the princess to guide her to a safe place. So, whenever he finds any girl child suspecting to be princess, he used to sing a song to confirm but every time he failed because he got no sign of the power which was supposed to be possessed by the child. One day he went to that very poor family's house and saw a baby playing inside the house and there was no one near the child. To make sure that she is the princess. He started singing the song to confirm. As he started singing the nature started responding, the winds start blowing, the trees started dancing and the water in the river started jumping out of joy. He understood the nature's sign and took the baby and started running towards the river. He found a boat standing there. He put the baby on the boat and said to the Mother Nature to please take her to the place where she will be safe. He said requesting to the princess, 'You must find yourself in the future and you have to come back. Dear please, come back.' He pushed the boat and went away running. The wind was finding a safe place and was driving the boat. After two days the boat was at a safe shore.

Two orphan girls Gemini and Venus were playing near the river shore when they heard the sound of cry of a baby in a boat. They tried to find her parents but there was no one. They decided to take her to the orphanage and while going to the orphanage they named her Eris. The head of the orphanage was Miss Mercury Lux. She was a young lady with blue eyes, brown wavy hair and very beautiful and sweet voice. She was very soft whenever she was happy but behaved angrily whenever she was sad, tensed or irritated. According to the rules of the orphanage, the new child would become sister or brother of the person who first saw it and then there would be a get-together. That day Gemini and Venus got a new sister whom they liked very much.

DAYS IN THE ORPHANAGE

Eris grew up. Now she is eleven years old girl having bold and strong appearance with deep black wavy hairs and maroon eyes. She is very kind and beautiful with sweet smile and soft voice. Her eleven years in the orphanage are the golden days of her life but she always had a bad dream in which she uses to see Gregarin laughing loudly HA-HA-HA, a king and queen aspiring and waiting for someone, a woman saying dear please come back, a small child's stone monument and a scary deep dark forest. She wakes up with a jerk. Gemini is a girl with a beautiful smile. She is brave and very beautiful with magenta-coloured eyes asked Eris, 'what happened, do you saw the same dream today again?'

Eris answered, 'yes, but it is like; this dream is trying to tell me something.'

Miss Lux announced in the mike, 'breakfast is ready; come fast or there will be empty bowls.'

All the children started running towards the hall. Eris went there thinking about the dream and questioning in her mind, 'Why I saw only the same dream all the time? Why my dreams are different from the dream's other children? Why only me? I have to find it out.'

After breakfast, she went outside the orphanage to play and talk to plants, trees, river, animals and wind.

Eris said, 'Hey there what's up?'

Tree-1 said, 'Good, how are you?'

Eris said, 'Great! How are you dear plant?'

Plant said, 'Fine.'

Suddenly Venus came and said, 'You are again talking to yourself.'

'No sis, I am talking to the trees and plants ...,' said Eris.

'No way Eris, plants and trees never talk. Eris, come out of your imagination,' Venus said.

Plants said, 'They just can't hear us dear Eris, you are the only one who can hear our voice.'

Eris asked surprisingly, 'But why only I can hear you all?'

A young plant answered, 'I don't know! But I know who can answer your questions. It's a banyan tree, the oldest ancestor of tree family, who is still living.'

Eris asked, 'Where can I find him?'

Wind answered, 'Don't worry. I can take you to him, but the path is too long and the banyan tree is too old.'

Eris asked, 'How old is him?'

Wind answered confusingly, 'Approximately five hundred to six hundred years, may be more than that.'

Eris said, 'What!'

Wind said, 'according to my assumption.'

Eris said, 'that means you don't know.'

Wind said, 'yah, you are right.'

She was flying with wind and here in orphanage, everyone was worried about her. After three hours of journey, through tunnels, valleys and forest they reached to a hill top in a deep forest near a big field full of sparkling grasses and bushes.

Wind said, 'Eris, go straight, the Banyan tree is in the middle of the field. He must be resting, so let him first speak.'

Eris went straight through the big grasses and bushes. There was a very old tree, wrinkled all over and the tree was sleeping.

When she came near, the tree asked, 'Oh! Who is this? And how are you here?'

Eris replied: Sir I am Eris.

Oh, Eris you are welcome, I was waiting for you; I know why you are here. You want to know answers of many questions. Why are you so silent dear? Come on, have a seat.'

The old tree extended one of his lower branches for Eris.

Eris said, 'Thank you. How old are you?'

Tree said, 'Not much, just 660 years old.' Eris was shocked. She was silent for some time thinking about her dreams and wondering should she ask about her dreams or not.

Tree said, 'Why are you looking so sad?'

Eris said, 'Nothing for... actually I always had some kind of sad dreams

DAYS IN THE ORPHANAGE

Tree said, 'I know, you saw someone is laughing like a monster. You saw a kingdom, waiting for you with hope and all that mess around. Am I right?'

Eris said, 'Yes, you are right. But there is something more; I also see a dark forest which always scares me.'

The tree said, 'Okay, you saw the glimpses of your past and present. To know the answer of your questions, you have to find it by yourself. Follow your dream to know the past.'

Eris said, 'Okay, can I ask you one more question? Why only I can hear or talk to Nature?'

The tree said, 'The answer is in you. Try to understand yourself and you will find the reason.'

Dear, now go. Everyone is waiting for you.'

Eris said, 'Ok, bye-bye and thank you.'

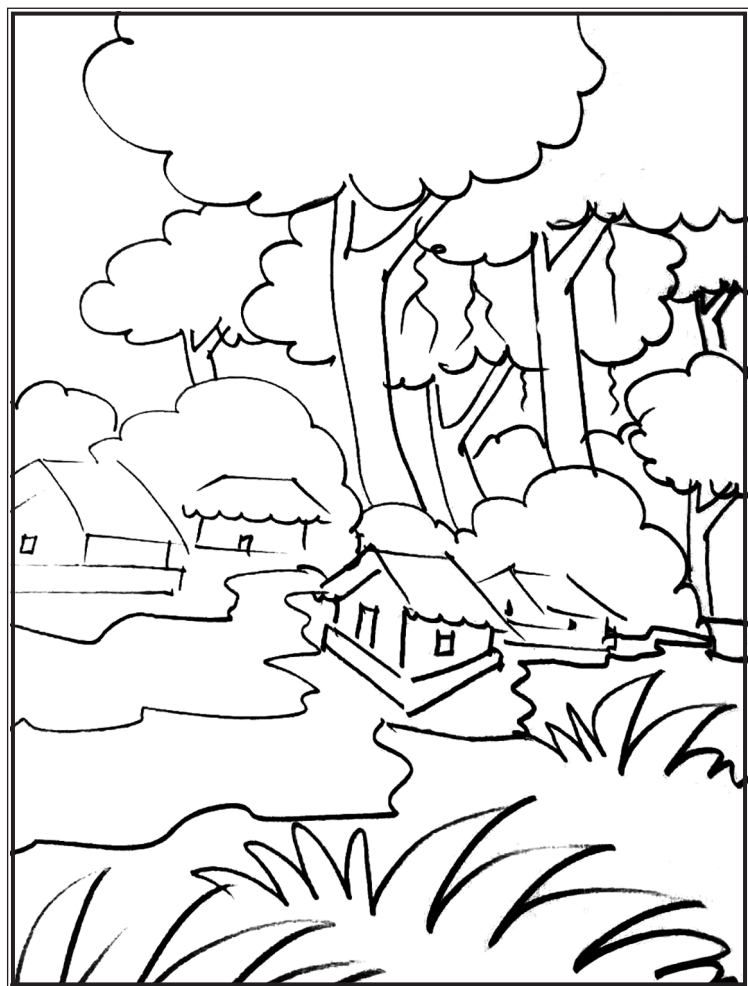

Tree said, 'Bye, dear.'

Eris asked the wind, 'Can you take me back to orphanage.'

Wind said, 'Surely, I am ready to fly you high.'

Eris said, 'Let's go!'
